

5 year old boy brought out of coma thanks to MindHeal Homeopathy

Kuber, a 5-year old boy, was brought to MindHeal Homeopathy in a semi-conscious state on 5th May, 2009. He was getting convulsions from 2nd December, 2008 for 8 continuous days after a long period of high fever. Sensing his condition to be dangerous, he was admitted to a hospital where he lay unconscious and was given heavy drugs. Within one month of his stay in the hospital, he slipped into coma.

Despite conducting 24 hour EEG, CT scan and Lumber Puncture, his illness as well as its root cause could not be diagnosed. He was getting around 108 fits a day. He was shifted from ICU to his ward and was discharged later on.

However, at home, Kuber contracted cold and fever and was getting continuous convulsions. This time, he was diagnosed with pneumonia. Hence, he had to be re-admitted for 21 days. There were no convulsions after that, but continuous involuntary movements were observed. He felt better while lying down whereas his suffering aggravated whenever he sat or was touched. He always felt sleepy and failed to recognize even his family members. After a thorough case analysis, we came to know that before the first set of convulsions, Kuber was a very bright child. He was so bold that he could wrestle with big street dogs and walk in the garden even if warned about snakes being present there. He enjoyed studying and watching cartoons. However, he was very sensitive too. On 26th November 2008, the day when terror attacks occurred in Mumbai, he got so frightened after watching the gory scenes on TV that he was uttering “Don’t kill me” in his sleep and contracted a very high fever the next morning, which ultimately resulted in convulsions and unconsciousness.

The Consulting Doctor at MindHeal Homeopathy provided the appropriate homeopathic medicines based on the case findings. Since then, Kuber’s condition is improving amazingly day-by-day. His senses are becoming active and his grip on objects has strengthened. Initially, he had to use diapers because of his incontinence; but now he signals his parents for visiting the toilet. It is certainly a new lease of life for the boy whose case seemed incurable.

At MindHeal Homeopathy, we take care of our patients and provide customized medication after analyzing their cases scientifically and thoroughly.
